The success or failure of the "Bharat handh" (All-India strike) will also show the ability of the fragmented opposition to effectively unite to fight ruling Congress (1) Party at the polls.

Officials in Punjah said 140,000 police and security personnel were on maximum alert to guard key public buildings and railway tracks.

Opposition sources in the Punjab state capital Chandigarb said all schools and colleges would be closed for the day. They said they expected full support from the drivers of more than 5,000 trucks that ferry goods around the state.

In Calcutta, the capital of West Bengal state, several flights had to be cancelled as airline employees began a three-day walk-out as part of the national strike.

Israel to seal off Gaza Strip

TEL AVIV. March 14, (Agencies): Israeli Army officials said they would seal off the occupied Gaza Strip, home to 650,000 Palestinians, tonight to prevent what they called hostile elements from entering.

Officials said they would elose
the entrances and bar residents from leaving their homes from 10 pm to 3 am in the Strip, where hundreds of Arah policemen have resigned at the request of leaders of the 13-week-old Palestinian uprising. The elosure of the Gaza Strip, unprecedented during the uprising in Israeli-oeeupied territories, was ordered "to prevent entry of hostile elements," a military official

Confirm

The officials could not immediately confirm an Israel Radio report that the curfew would be in force nightly until further notice.

The radio said the action was to prevent inciters and what it called "violent extremists" from entering and threatening the lives of residents. The radio said another aim was to keep out inflammatory leaflets.

It was unclear how much the action was a response to the resignations of Arah policemen.

Military officials have said the policemen were forced to quit under threat of death or damage to their homes, and at least 250 Arab policemen have resigned in Gaza city alone.

Last August, the Army barred residents from leaving the Gaza Strip for three days after the killing by Palestinians of Israel's military police commander there.

In the occupied West Bank, Israeli troops shot and wounded nine Palestinians while dispersing a crowd attacking the home of an Arah villager they accused of collaborating with Israel, an Army spokesman said.

Troops opened fire when Palestinians attacked the man's homein the Elyamun village near Jenin, he added. The Army immediately clamped a curfew on the village.

Since a Palestinian uprising began in the West Bank and Gaza Strip on Dec 9, demonstrators have killed an Arah policeman and lynched a Palesfinian they accused of being an informant for the Israeli authorities.

Hundreds of Arah policemen in Gaza announced their resignations today and dozens handed in their uniforms and equipment despite attempts hy their commanders to dissuade them.

"For a number of days, w have been involved in talks with the local police, but without much success at this point," assistant Gaza police commander Shimon Levy told Israel radio. 'It became evident from the talks, however, that they did not want to resign but feared for their

4 killed, 8 wounded in Lebanon violence

BEIRUT, March 14, (AP): Four people were killed and eight wounded in 24 hours of scattered shootout and bombings in Lebanon, police said today. The violence reflected tensions between rival forces in the strifetorn country that have simmered despite a lull in the 13-year-old civil war and factional feuding.

Police identified the slain as two officers from the Lebanese' Forces, the Christians main militia, another from Druze leader Walid Jumblatt's progressive Socialist Party militia and a Palestinian commando.

Motive

Among the casualties was Nimeh Hamieh, a Shiite Muslim attorney, critically wounded when a time-bomh exploded on a window ledge outside the bath-room of his West Beirut apartment as he was shaving today, police said.

Hamieh, a former chairman of Lebanon's Bar Association, was rushed to the Barbir hospital hy neighbours, police said. They declined to speculate on the motive for the assassination attempt.

The two Lebanese Forces officers were killed yesterday by bodyguards of President Amin Gemayel's 18-year-old son. Pierre, in a quarrel in a trafficjammed street in the Christian port of Jounieh, 12 1/2 miles (20 kilotieties) north of Beirut, police said.

Second attack on Arabs in Lagos

Saudis wounded in shooting

LAGOS, March 14, (Reuter): Three Saudi citizens were shot and wounded at the weekend by an unidentified gunman in the second attack on Arahs in the Nigerian capital in two months, a senior Nigerian official said roday.

The men were shot at close range by a bearded, Arab-looking man using a pistol fitted with a silencer, the official said. Robbery

A doctor treating the men at a private Lagos bospital said they were in satisfactory condition and would be flown to Saudi Arahia later today.

On January 23, the Libyan Charge d'Affaires, Abubakar Kanna, was shot dead in a dangerous area of Lagos during what police said was an armed rohbery. No culprits have been found.

According to local newspaper reports, Kanna was returning by road from Benin, Nigeria's neighbour, where pro-Lihyan Chadian rebels have offices. Mistaken

The Nigerian official, wbo declined to be identified, said the state security service had been called to investigate the latest shooting, an indication that the authorities suspected a political

Call for review of ban on private tuition institutes

PARENTS and students are calling for a review of the ban on tuition by private institutes, a local newspaper said yesterday.

The tutorials organised by the Kuwait Teachers Society were meant to be an alternative to the classes held by the private institutes, hut students and parents interviewed by the newspaper claimed that the society's tutorials were not an acceptable alternative because the classes were large and a waste of the time of students.

One student, Abdul Latif Al Rashed, said be had been attending the private institutes. After the classes were banned, he joined those held by the Teachers Society, but found them inefficient.

He pointed out that a class at the private institutes did not exceed ten students and this ensured good interaction between teacher and students, whereas classes at the society had 35 students each.

He said he had stopped studying with the society because he realised he would not benefit and would be wasting his time.

Another student, Sulaiman Al Astal, said that fees at the private institutes were token ones and were not a hurden on a family's budget.

Burden

He said that tutorials at the society were not at the expected level.

He said that special coaches who came to homes charged KD150 a munth, and this large sum was a very heavy burden on a family's budget. A girl student called on the press to play its role in putting an end to the greed of teachers who gave tuition at homes.

He said he was also ohliged to stay at bome as long as the teacher was there and this was a moral hurden.

He called for reviewing the decision hanning tutorials at private institutes, adding that the institutes had proved their efficiency over a long period.

Another parent, Yahya Fayed, said cancellation of tutorials at the private institutes had a negative effect on students. Fathi Amin said he had been affected by the cancellation of tutorials at the private institutes. He said he was reluctant to have coaches come to his home although the flat was small.

He said he paid about KD150 monthly for tuition, although his Saudi Arabia, with 12 million people the most populous of the GCC states, is the biggest potential market for drugs. "No doubt the death penalty

A pastime turns into artistic career

By Keith Wells

YOU often hear people complaining that there's nothing to do in Kuwait, well, this is a story about a young lady who has turned her pastime into a budding artistic career and had lots of fun in the process.

Yasmin Esa Parwaz is a secretary/translator at the Bhutaoese Embassy, but she has taken up jewellery making in her spare time and, as you can see from the photographs, Yasmin has a real talent for making eye-catching pieces of ewellery.

'I've only been working with silver for about seven months, says Yasmin, 'hut I've been making costume jewellery for years, using beads and the metal from the bottom of light hulbs which is very easy to work

So how did she get started as a silvern it? I took rome night-school classes at the Kuwait Cultural Centre in Salwa, which is run by Salome Al Sabah. In three months I learnt the hasic techniques, working with a blowtorcb, hammering and so on. It was easy for me because of my previous experience and I bad a very good teacher, Erica Leitner, ar. Austrian lady who left last year but will be returning to the Centre soon. Lucky

Is it an expensive hohby to have?

'Not really, you can set your-self up for about fifty dinars and I have been lucky in that lots of my friends have asked me to make things for them. Silver costs roughly 220 to 240 fils a gram and I usually charge the price of the silver plus between one and two and a half dinars per gram, depending on how difficult the workmanship is.' Yasmin held up a delicately knitted silver chain with a subtle locking device from which a pale moonstone hung. 'This type of work takes a long time,' she explained, 'Sometimes my friends give me their own designs to make up for them, or else I design something myself. I don't really want to turn it into a husiness, but it's nice that my hobby pays for itself." ar isil dile teleburg geografic

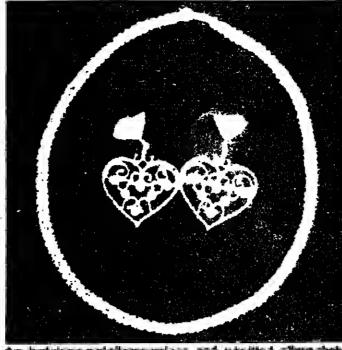

Yasmin wearing some of her own lewellery

The first time I sold anything in public was at the American Women's League Bazaar in December. I was very nervous, but I managed to sell all of my costume jewellery and quite a lot of the silver too. It was great. There is going to be an Arts and Crafts Charity Bazaar at the Regency Palace Hotel on April 7 and 8 and I'm working very hard to get things ready for that. The Charity Bazaar is being organised by Suad Al Afrai of Al Amwai

Co., and the proceeds will be divided between the Kuwait Handicapped Society, the Palestinian Uprising Fund and the Muslims in Africa Charity.

Original Yasmin's jewellery is very original in design and I particularly like a pair of ball knot silver earrings which were very striking. I like dressmakiog as well," says Yasmin, 'What I really enjoy is designing and making my own clothes, then designing and making the jewellery to go with the dress. It's a lovely feeling.' And as you can see for yourself, the results are lovely too.

Yasmin uses heads and artificial stones in her designs. Zircoos only cost about ooe and a half dioars and they look exactly the same as diamonds which could cost as much as a thousand dollars for the same size stone. My uncle has a small star ruhy mine near Bangalore and I have some stones from there that I hope to be able to use for some of the things I shall

Discord as Suharto starts new term

By Kenneth L. Whiting

JAKARTA, Indonesia, (AP): Indonesia's People's Consultative Assembly has closed shop for another five years after an 11day session marked hy unprecedented discord.

A public outhurst by an Army general, a dispute over the vicepresidency and previously unheard of votes on policy matters upset the script at what is usually a pre-arranged ceremonial occasion.

The assembly, or MPR from its Indonesian acronym, is supposed to "elect" the president and vice-president and approve state policy guidelines. It consists of the 500 members of parliament chosen through a general election last April and another 500 people appointed by President Suharto.

The constitution describes the MPR as the nation's supreme lawmaking body. In fact, Suharto rules the world's fifth most populous country with the support of the armed forces and participatory democracy is limited. Five groups in the assembly, known as factions, acclaimed Suharto as president for a fifth five-year term. The factions include three political parties, the military and appointees from different regions.

Unopposed

State Secretary Sudharmono was sworn in unopposed as vicepresident Friday after Jailani Naro of the Muslim based United Development Party was pulled out of the race at the last minute.

Naro told a news conference: "I didn't withdraw. I was pulled out by my party.'

Earlier in the week, Naro's party caused the MPR to depart from tradition by voting for the first time ever to break a deadlock

Political custom calls for "musjawarah," or negotiating for as long as it takes to reach consensus. Some authorities dislike voting as a practice they associate with Western-style

The Muslim faction was outvoted 280-28 in committee on its request to add a clause to election rules stating that "general elections should be held in a fair and bonest manner." Opponents said this was already embodied in the regulations. It lost by equally lopsided margins on proposals to reject Javanese mysticism as part of religion and subsidised Islamic boarding schools. The vice-presidency is a largely ceremonial position. But with Suharto, 66, starting what is assumed will be his last term, his running mate would be well placed to stake a claim as heir to the presidency.

Stepping out as vice-president is Umar Wirahadikusumah, 64, a retired general and Suharto's former comrade-in-arms. Umar kept a low profile during his one term and never was regarded as having presidential ambitions.

Constitutional procedures for succession exist, but do not take into account the widespread mystical belief that the national leader must be blessed with a divine "mandate" before one has a right to rule.

About 90 per cent of the 170 million people are considered at least nominally Muslim. But "dukuns," or soothsayers, have a wide following and Suharto rules with the help of Javanese spiritual advisers, informed sources say.

Suharto and the late President Sukarno are the the only presidents Indonesia has had since wresting independence from the Dutch after World War II. Economic chaos, an attempted coup and bloodshed in the last months of Sukarno's rule were supposed to be signs that he had lost the divine mandate. . .

Jackson's bid for the White House Charisma counts in US politics.

By Mike Feinsilber

WASHINGTON, (AP): Jesse Jackson has charisma. He has strong opinions about the hig issues. And, in the aftermath of Super Tuesday, he has plenty of delegates to support his presidential ambition.

Jackson, a hlack American, underlined his political strength with a strong showing in the state presidential primaries on Tuesday. But analysts are still at odds' over what effect, if any, his race may have on the campaign.
"If he were white, he wouldn't be in the race," says Ben J. Wattenherg, a scholar at the American Enterprise Institute and co-editor of Public Opinion magazine.

Wattenberg argues that a hlack could be elected president in contemporary America, but not someone with Jackson's lack of office-bolding experience nor "blame-America-first husiness-bashing radical" like Jack-

Charlsma

But Ronald Walters, a political science professor at predominantly hlack Howard University, says, "if Jackson were white, I think be'd be president," Walters, who was Jackson's deputy campaign manager in 1984, believes Jackson's experience in the civil rights movement is more than the equivalent to service in a leg-

And he has a not-to-be-discounted electrifying quality. "Charisma — say what you will, it still counts in politics," Walters says. "Just ask Ronald Reagan." Network polls said Jackson won between 8 per cent and 10 per cent of the white vote in the south in Super Tuesday primaries - twice as much as four years ago. Altogether, Jackson won 2.5 million of the 9.4 million votes cast Tuesday - more than anyone else. The conventional wisdom has been that whites won't vote for a hlack candidate in sufficient numbers to elect a black president. Jackson's perfor-mance reopens the debate about wbether a race-based barrier actually exists.

Some surveys show 15 per cent to 20 per cent of the population would reject any black on racial grounds.

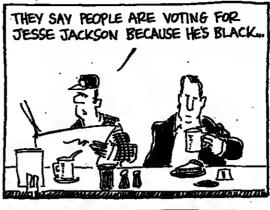

"It is probably higher," says Robert Smith, professor of Afro-American politics at Howard University, who nonetheless believes the positions Jackson takes are a handicap as substantial as that of race.

Ideology

"I would say he would not be nominated or elected if he were white," Smith says."A substantial number of white persons who object to Jackson do so more because of his ideology than his

"the major impediment in Jackson's campaign now is not the racial issue, but the class issue. Because he is speaking up for poor people and working people of all colours, he is not getting the financial support that other candidates can get from corpora-tions and wealthy people."

Jackson's oratorical style, which relies on rhymed words, alliteration and emotional preacher when his voice had to reach congregations in large churches without amplification.

Grandmaison, Josepb Democratic chairman in New Hampshire, believes the dis-advantage Jackson suffers from race is offset by the loyalty of his natural constituency.

"I think that's good. It's healthy," Grandmaison says, and he compares Jackson's gains from race to the loyalty Americans of recent ethnic origin feel toward another Democratic hopeful Michael Dukakis, son of Greek immigrants.

But Wattenberg says Jackson is simply too radical for America. "Jesse Jackson went to Cuba and said, 'Viva Che Guevara,' praising a man who dedicated his life to the export of communism to south and Latin America," Wattenberg says. "Had any other politician in American life ever said anything like that, he might have been scandalised and drummed out of the race."

Wattenberg believes a black candidate with the political skills of a Jackson and the moderate positions of a Tom Bradicy the hlack mayor of Los Angeles who narrowly missed being elected governor of California "would surely get the nomina-

No matter the hardships, Bulgarians don't complain

By William Echikson

SOFIA, Bulgaria: Until I arrived, my thoughts about Bulgaria could be summed up in a few sinister images: drug and arms smuggling, violent suppression of its Turkish minority, and a ruthless secret police. It was the Bulgarians, after all, who were implicated in the attempted assassination of Pope John Paul II and the notorious 1978 London "umbrella assassination" of Georgi Markov, a Bulgarian exile who had broadcast embarrassing news of his homeland over the BBC. Markov was dispatched by a tiny poison, pellet fired into his legfrom a specially designed

Given these preconceptions, Sofia surprises me. Some fine baroque buildings grace down-town. Spacious parks create an airy feeling, and spectacular, snowcapped Mount Vitosha stands visible on the horizon. In less than 30 minutes, city dwellers can be out on the ski

Bustling Lenin Square is striking. As I expected, it hoasts a gargantuan statue of its namesake, looking more fatherly than revolutionary. But a much more impressive structure stands across the square: the Sheraton Sofia.

Those sinister Bulgarians, as it turns out, are unusually flexible in molding their communist ideology to earn American dollars. The Sheraton is a joint venture with the American company, managed by a Dane named Flemming Jenson, who says he manages to maintain Western standards by "importing everything from the toilet paper you see in the bathroom to the hlack bread you eat at hreakfast." Luxury

The Sheraton transformed out of the decaying shell of the Hotel Balkan, is a splash of New York-style luxury. In the informal Melnik Grill, you can order a good bamburger. In the elegant Restaurant Preslav, you can eat dishes that Bulgarians have snail soup, caviar omelettes, kiwi salad. "What's a kiwi?," asks Vas-sela, a Bulgarian journalist, with whom I shared dinner. When the waiter places a dish full of the ripe green fruit, she takes a long look before tasting. "Delicious," she exclaims. Vassela judges everything "delicious — until the bill comes. Then she lets out a shriek of "Impossible!" For four people, the total comes to 254 lev, about $160 - more than the average monthly Bulgarian salary of 230 lev.

At those prices, most Bul-garians avoid the Sheraton. Vassela, my guest, was the only Bulgarian eating that night in the restaurant. Locals must make do with grimy grills serving a single dish — "mixed grill" — and supermarkets offering little more than frozen chickens and canned sardines. Fruit that must be imported in wintertime is not available outside of the Sheraton.

Opposition

We visit the Sadovo Agricultural Cooperative. It is a model farm. The director rattles off a series of propaganda-like statistics and introduces us to a model family, which lives in a spacious ranch home, filled with modern Scandinavian-style furniture. Although the bosts obviously have received foreign visitors before, Comrade Vlasek interrupts them to make sure that the "correct" answers are given to difficult questions.

The next day, we visit the Maritza textile factory. Textiles may be encountering difficulties throughout Eastern Europe, bnt not here. Comrade Vlasek again interrupts the factory director to tell me that Maritza exports to West Germany. . . After three hours, the tour ends, and I manage to say goodbye to my comrade-guide. But I am not left alone. When I drive around town, a yellow Soviet-made Lada 1800, licence plate PC4284, follows me. Two burly mustachioed men sit inside.

Am I imagining it? I stop my car to visit a church. The yellow Lada stops. One of the men gets, out and walks a safe distance behind me Lam not massining it.

Two suspicious-looking Ladas trail me on my trip back to Sofia. When I stop, they stop. When I speed up, they speed up. I have been followed on other trips to Eastern Europe, but never this openly, this persistently.

Only on the train to Belgrade do I begin to feel unfettered. I breath a sigh of relief, relax, and reffect. Perhaps my preconcep-tion of Bulgaria wasn't wrong. The Christian Science Monitor News Service.

Turkish left seeks new leader

By John Owen-Davies

ANKARA, (Reuter): Torn hy dissent and facing a forceful political right, Turkey's once strong left wing is seeking a dynamic leader to take it out of the political wilderness.

A crisis in the main opposition Social Democrat Populist Party (SHP) and the resignation of former Premier Bulent Ecevit as head of the Democratic Left Party (DLP) have added to the left wing's woes.

But political sources believe the turmoil could lead to a regrouping of democratic leftists into a single cohesive force.

The left knows it cannot survive unless it joins under a single banner. Ecevit's resignation eases the way. But who will be the leader is an open and tan-talising question," one source said. SHP member Deniz Baykal, a cabinet minister in the turbulent 1970s, said: "Since 1983 when new parties were established we have had a difficult time. We are trying to remodel the party sys-tem but we are successful only to a certain degree. "No one can say the final party structure of the Turkish political system has taken its final stage." Baykal, who wants a two-party system, told Reuters.

The right-of-centre True Path Party (TPP), led by former Premier Suleyman Demirel held the major balance with nearly 20 per cent.

A main opposition irritant is that with only 36 per cent of the vote, Ozal's party won 292 seats in the 450-seat parliament, com-pared with 99 for the SHP and the TPP's 59.

However, partner is allowed to pull with a hand unsuitable for defense. (Four no trump on this auction is unconditionally for takeout.) However, South elected to gamble on five hearts, which looked pretty hopeless even though dummy produced useful values.

Declarer saw he had no chance unless West had led a singleton king of diamonds. He won the ace, drew trumps in two rounds and led a spade toward the king. West rose with the ace and safely exited with a spade. On dummy's king declarer sluffed one diamond, then continued with the ten of spades, on which he discarded his last diamond.

In with the queen of spades, West was left with a choice of losing alternatives. If he led a spade, declarer would pitch dummy's cluh loser and ruff in hand, and then his two cluh losers would he ruffed on the table. And a lead away from the king of cluhs also would conceded the contract, for declarer would have no option hut to run it to his queen. Thus, declarer fulfilled his contract.

Reading, writing, arithmetic and more

KUWAIT'S foreign schools do so much more than just provide the basic reading, writing and arithmetic instruction. And, they are doing it in such a way that children make the exciting discovery that learning is fun.

With the lovely spring weather many schools have had or are planning Sports Day activities. The Gulf English School Infant I students held their Sports Day last week with 150 children participating in races and games specially chosen to demonstrate a number of important movement skills. The skills had been taught during the regular PE lessons at school, but the lessons were taken beyond the classroom to the sports field where running, jumping, throwing and catching skills were displayed in a fun spirit of competition and cooperation—important concepts encouraged in sports. The Senior School students beld their Sports Day yesterday.

Sports activities are an integral part of foreign school curricula and interscholastic games are played throughout the year. In a recent soccer tournament held between 12-year-old boys from Ecole Francaise and Kuwait English School, Ecole Française won 3-1. Win or lose; these events enhance a child's educational experience and broaden his/her learning environment.

Universal American School went beyond the basics in a couple of special activities recently. Eiji Ohashi, a master kitemaker from Japan taught kite-making to grades 4, 5 and 6 with the help of several representatives of the Japanese Embassy. Children not only learned how to make a kite, but learned more about the culture of Japan as well.

Also at UAS, Dr Gopalakrishnan, a scientist from Kuwait Institute for Scientific Research and his wife, a research chemist, were assisted by their children Shuba and Shankar and two friends Aanand Vasudevan and Shyam Venkatsweran in presenting a programme on the rich culture of India. Songs, dances, poetry and slides were used as teaching aids in this fascinating cultural programme that proved again that schools are teaching alot more than reading, writing and arithmetic.

Kaufman sees greater Fed

NEW YORK, March 14, (Reuter): The Federal Reserve, the US Central Bank, will be called on to take a greater role in governing financial markets in the transition to a new financial world, economist Henry Kaufman said. "In the new financial world, the fundamental issue is what mechanism to put in place to govern it effectively," Kaufman said in remarks prepared for delivery on Saturday to the New York University Graduate School of Business Administration. "For the Federal Reserve, our new financial world will mean that its function as lender of last resort will expand, unless we accept the discipline of the market place, which is highly unlikely," said Kanfman, managing director of the Salomon Brothers investment house. Big financial institutions, with numerous international and domestic relationship, are allowed to fail because the risk to society is deemed too high, he said. "The current arrangement ... encourages excessive risk-taking because market discipline is not allowed to work," he said.

"And no other governing approach, through new forms of regula-tion, is being implemented quickly enough... The problem is complicated by the divisions between US regulatory bodies and by differences among countries in terms of trading practices, accounting, and reporting standards, he said. The Fed's role will expand as distinctions among financial institutions blur and the volume of market transactions rises.

Taiwan to buy more US oil to cut trade surplus

TAIPEI, March 14, (Reuter): Taiwan, which started importing US oil last year, is bidding to buy more Alaskan crude this year to help cut its trade surplus with the United States, the state-run Chinese Petroleum Corporation said today.

Chinese Petroleum has since last October taken two deliveries, totalling more than 660,000 barrels, of the US oil.

The rest of the cootracted crude will be delivered in two shipments to Taiwan between April and July, 1988, Chinese Petroleum president Kuan Yung-Shih said in an interview.

He said the company had sent a bid to the United States to compete with other oil impor-ters, including Japan and South Korea, for the purchase of the US crude this year. Hope

"We hope to win the bidding this year, like we did last year, so that we could help the government reduce our trade surplus with the US," be said.

Taiwan's trade surplus with the United States fell over 40 per cent to $1,67 billion in the first two months of 1988 from 2.35 billion a year ago, official figures

Trade officials said the surplus would substantially drop to about $10 billioo this year from a record high of more than 16 billion last year.

Nazer opposes Opec output cut

BAGHDAD, March 14, (Reuter): Saudi Arabian Oil Mioister Hisbam Nazer said today his country opposed oil production cuts by Opec to halt a recent slide in world prices.

Arab oil experts and officials from 18 countries opened an energy meeting in Baghdad as Iran slammed two missiles into the Iraqi capital in a resumption of the deadly war of the cities hetween the two Gulf war

Nazer, the only oil minister to attend the conference after the ministers from Bahrain, Qatar, Kuwait and the UAE cancelled at the last minute, told reporters: 'No. I don't think there ought to be an output cut hy Opec."

His remark immediately hit the price in Europe of North Sea Breot, the mostly widely traded crude oo world spot markets. Brent for delivery in April had fallen nearly 50 cents a barrel to $14.55 by 1300 GMT from its Europeao close on Friday of around $15. Brent closed in New York on Friday around $14.90. Nazer said consultations were under way withio the Organisation of Petroleum Exporting Countries (Opec) to find ways to restore its grip oo world oil prices, undermined since Jan-uary by oversupply.

Participants But he appeared to oppose a call hy some Opec members for an emergency meeting of the group's price committee, to which Saudi Arabia belongs.

Mioutes after the opening ceremony eoded, participants heard a distant thud just before noon - about the time Iran said it had fired missiles at Baghdad. Iraqi First Deputy Prime Minister Taha Yassin Ramadao presided over the opening, calling for recewed efforts by producing countries to stabilise the world oil market.

Oil prices have sunk as much as $4 helow Opec's fixed reference price of $18 a barrel in recent weeks because of excess Algeria last week said Opec oeeded to make fresh output cuts to keep prices from falling fur-ther, but Nazer disagreed. Rumours of an impending Opec output cut, denied by the group's Vienna headquarters, helped boost prices nn the free or spot oil market last week by about one dollar, which Nazer called a very good sign.

But he appeared to reject any moves that would cut Opec's share of world oil production to the possible benefit of noo-Opec oroducers.

Saudi Arabia has led a group of Opec states more concerned with maintaining given output levels thao raising prices. Other Opec states, led by Iran, favour output cuts and higher prices.

Opec states pumped around 17.3 million barrels per day (bpd) last month, up from January's 15.9 million hpd. No member appears to be violating the quota set for it hy last December's Opec meeting, althnugh lraq is producing at will, having reject-ing a quota less than that of Iran.

"We are not talking about market share. We're oot talking about prices. We will just wait and see." Nazer said. Opec's course of action in the coming months would depend on informal consultations now under way, he added.

Nazer was cool to a Venezuelan proposal to convene an urgent meeting of Opec's price committee. "I doo't think we shoulo emphasise a meeting (of the committee) as the only solu-tion," he said.

Investors see oil potential in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, March 14, (UPI): Private investors are closely watching a shakeup in the top ranks of Argentina's petroleum monopoly for clues that could set off an oil rush.

"Oilmen have a herd instinct," says Lins M Rey, President of Pluspetrol, a private Argentine oil production and exploration

"When one or two move in, the others fall in behind."

The state oil monopoly, YPF, technically cootrols all of Argentina's energy resources, but traditionally it has been inefficient and poorly managed.

A succession of Argentine presidents—Juan Peron, Arturo Frondizi, Juan Carlos Ongania and, most recently, President Raul Alfonsin — have been forced to ahandon nationalistic policies and ask foreign and private iovestors for help io production and exploration.

In the tangle of bureaucratic rhetoric that followed the shakeup, it was clear that Lapcoa mainly had irritated superiors by not moving fast enough in attractiog private capital to make Argentina self-sufficient in oil production.

Government auctions Alaska coast waters for oil drilling

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, March 14, (UPI): lo the first federal offshore oil lease sales in Alaska io four years, the government plans to auction oil drilling rights over a vast Arctic Ocean stretch where Eskimos fear drilling might interfere with whale huots.

Wednesday's federal oil lease sale - the first of two aimed at bringing oil companies into Arctic waters - puts 18 million acres of the Beaufort Sea oo the auction block. Then, in May, 29 million acres of the Chukchi Sea will be up for grabs.

Together, these lease sales put virtually the entire Arctic Ocean off Alaska up for sale, com-plained Tom Lohman, a lawyer for the North Slope Borough, a Minnesota-sized county with about 5,400 people in eight Esk-

In fact, these two sales stretch from the US-Soviet border io the west all the way to the US-Canada border in the east. Some Beaufort tracts are claimed by Canada and are part of a boundary dispute.

There is literally almost no area around Alaska that is not in their plans," he said. Some future sales raise coocerns, but Wednesday's Beaufort sale and the upcoming Chukchi sale have Eskimos worried now.

Gov. Steve Cowper took up the Eskimos' chief concerns and asked secretary of ioterior Donald Hodel to delcte tracts north of Barrow - which Hodel did. Cowper also asked Hodel to require oil companies to stop drilliog during spriog and fall bowhead whale migrations — which Hodel refused to do.

Copwer also asked Hodel for further studies of whale feeding areas in the eastern Beaufort near the village of Kaktovik, but Hodel declined. Eskimos waoted this area removed from the sale, but the state did not back this and so it was never considered.

LONDON, MARCH 14, REUTER - GOLD CLOSED UNCHANGED AT LAST FRIDAY'S LEVELS OF 441.25/441.75 DLRS AN OUNCE, SLIGHTLY DOWN FROM THE AFTERNOON FIN OF 442.25 DLRS.

IN VERY QUIET TRADING TRADING MANAGED TO HOLD THE 440 DLR LEVEL TODAY, DEALERS NOTED. THE MAIN FEATURE OF THE MARKET WAS A LACK OF SELLERS WHICH TENDED TO UNDERPIN PRICES AS THERE WAS STEADY FUNDAMENTAL DEMAND, THEY ADDED.

NEW YORK GOLD FUTURES FIRMED ON THE BACK OF A WEAKER DOLLAR TODAY, BUT LONDON DEALERS SAID THIS WAS LARGELY OFFSET BY FEARS OF WEAKER OIL PRICES.

London Money Market

LONDON, MARCH 14, REUTER - THE MONEY MARKET WAS IN A BULLISH MOOD AHEAD OF TOMORROW'S U.K. BUDGET AND INTERBANK RATES ENDED AS MUCH AS 3/16 POINT LOWER ON SPECULATION THAT INTEREST RATES WILL BE OUT SOON TO TAKE THE HEAT OFF STERLING, DEALERS SAID. UNTIL THE POUND'S RISE THROUGH THREE MARKS LAST MONDAY, WORRIES ABOUT INFLATIONARY PRESSURES HAD LED MOST ANALYSTS TO FORECAST A RISE IN RATES IN THE MEDIUM TERM.

COMMENTS BY PRIME MINISTER MARGARET THATCHER LAST WEEK, RULING OUT AN INMEDIATE CUT, SEEMED TO CLOSE THE DEBATE, DEALERS SAID. BUT WEEKEND PRESS COMMENT REVIVED HOPES OF A REDUCTION, AND TRADING THIS MORNING WAS ACTIVE.

Tokyo Stock Market Report

TOKYO STOCKS CLOSE LOWER IN ACTIVE TRADE TOKYO, MARCH 14, REUTER - SHARE PRICES CLOSED LOWER DUE TO CAUTION AS INSTITUTIONAL INVESTORS BEGAN TO CLOSE THEIR BOOKS AHEAD OF THE FISCAL TEAR-END MARCH 31 AND THURSDAT'S RELEASE

OF U.S. JANUARY TRADE DATA, BROKERS SAID.

TOO MUCH IS GOING ON FOR ANYONE TO BE AGGRESSIVE ON THE BUYING SIDE," SAID ANALYST SIMON SMITHSON OF KLEINWORT BEHSON INTERNATIONAL INC.

THE NIKKEI INDEX LOST 110.22 POINTS, OR 0.43 PCT, TO 25,433.S1, AFTER HITTING A HIGH OF 2S,5S3.D1 AND A LOW OF 25,345.28. IT FELL 74.09 POINTS ON FRIDAT. FALLS LED RISES 2.3 TO ONE IN TURNOVER OF 950 MLN SHARES AGAINST 1.8 BILLION. SECURITIES HOUSE, BANK, CREDIT/LEASE, COMMUNICATIONS.

RUBBER, ELECTRONIC, PHARMACEUTICAL, PRECISION INSTRUMENT, GAS, NON-LIFE INSURANCE AND SOME MANUFACTURING ISSUES DECLINED. ROLLING STOCK, SERVICE AND SHIPPING SHARES ADVANCED

WHAT EXACTLY THE END OF THE WEEK WILL BRING CONCERNS INVESTORS, AND THERE ARE NO FRESH POSITIVE FACTORS TO TEMPER THE WORRY, BROKERS SAID. MOST SPECIAL MONEY TRUSTS, OR TOKKIN, WILL CLOSE THEIR

BOOKS BETWEEN THE 18TH AND THE 20TH OF THIS MONTH, AND THE OVERALL EFFECT IS STILL IN QUESTION, THEY ADDED. THE GOING ESTIMATES FOR THE TRADE FIGURES GENERALLY RANGE

FROM SETWEEN 13 TO 14 BILLION DLRS, ALTHOUGH KLEINWORT BENSON PREDICTS A 14.5 BILLION DLR SHORTFALL. "THE MARKET WON'T LIKE IT, THEY WON'T LIKE IT AT ALL," SAID KLEINWORT'S SMITHSON OF THAT FIGURE. "IF IT IS AS MUCH AS

THAT, THE DOLLAR WILL GROW WEAKER." "THE STOCK AND CURRENCY MARKETS HAVE NOT REALLY MOVED A GREAT DEAL RECENTLY, AND THERE IS PENT-UP ENERGY," SAID A FUND MANAGER AT THE BANK OF TOKYO. "THERE IS A POSSIBILITY THEY

WILL MOVE ON THE (TRADE) NUMBERS." Hong Kong Market Report

HONG KONG, MARCH 14, REUTER - SHARE PRICES CLOSED LOWER IH ACTIVE TRADING AS A LATE ROUND OF PROFIT-TAKING WIPED OUT EARLY GAINS, BROKERS SAID.

THE HANG SENG INDEX DROPPED 10.77 POINTS TO 2,584.68 AND THE BROADER-BASED HONG KONG INDEX SHED 6.14 TO 1,691.58. BROKERS SAID THE MARKET OPENED STRONGLY ON EXPECTATIONS OF BETTER CORPORATE RESULTS DUE IN THE COMING WEEKS.

BUT SHORT-TERM INVESTORS DECIDED TAKE PROFITS AND SELL INTO THE MARKET'S STRENGTH FOLLOWING GAINS IN THE PAST TWO WEEKS, THEY SAID. TURNOVER SLID TO 1.43 BILLION H.K. DLRS FROM FRIDAY'S 1.47 BILLION.

LOWER OVER A BROAD FRONT BUT ABOVE THE DAY'S LOWS HELPED BY LATE

IN WALL STREET OVERNIGHT AND LOWER TOKYO AND HONG KONG STOCK MARKETS, RENEWED-CONCERN OVER THE POLITICAL SITUATION IN MALAYSIA ALSO FORCED SOME CAUTIOUS INVESTORS TO TAKE PROFITS AFTER RECENT GAINS.

PRICE CHANGES WERE MOSTLY NARROW WITH ACTIVITY CENTRED MAINLY ON LOW-PRICED AND SELECTED MALAYSIAN SPECULATIVE ISSUES.

Opec criticised for offering price discounts

JAKARTA, (Reuler): Indonesia criticised fellow members of the Organisatinn of Petroleum Exporting Countries today for weakening the nil market by offering price discounts.

Energy Minister Subrata reiterated a warning that Indonesia would feel free to take its nwn measures if members vinlated the December Opec pricing and prnduclinn agreement which set a reference price of $18 a barrel. He did not ciaborate.

Suhroto tald reporters that price discounts by other Opec members had weakened Jakarta's largest market, Japan, where Indoneisa sells half its nil.

"We already warned in the December meeting that if the agreement was violated Indonesia would then take its nwn steps," Suhroto stated. He did nnt elaborate.

Indnnesia publicly said in January it would not feel obligated to stick to the December Opec accordifuther members broke it.

Opec prices have come under increasing pressure as a glut in crude supplies, coupled with a milder than usual winter and proliferating reports of Opec price discounting, have led traders to mark spot prices down more than $3 below official levels.

maintain the reference price to our customers. And so far we have succeeded in doing so far the Japanese market," the minister said.

Exports

Asked whether discounts nffered hy nther producers had reduced Indonesia's oil exports to Japan, Subroto said: "So far not yet. Because from December to March we have been able to maintain both the price and vnlume. But then demand has weakened."

Oil industry sources said Indonesia had come under pressure in follow other Opec members in affering discounts.

Jakarta was finding it difficult to maintain its official price of $17.56 fbr its main Minas crude, they said, and it may have to cut productioo.

American business inventories rise 0.4pc

WASHINGTON, March 14, (Reuter): Stockpiles of unsold goods grew a surprisingly small 0.4 per cent in January after a 0.9 per cent increase in December. the government said today.

Economists had expected husiness inventories to rise about 0.8 per cent in January. The smaller rise suggested firms were succeeding in bringing output back into line with demand after a massive accumulation of unsold goods in the fourth quarter of 1987.

As a result, companies should not need to cut production sharply in the months ahead, boding well for the economy.

The Commerce Department said US husiness inventories rose $3.0 billion during January to 705.85 hillion. The 0.9 per cent rise in December was a revision from the Department's original esumate of 0.8 per cent.

Business sales fell in January by $3.36 billion, or 0.7 per cent, to 462.78 hillion after a December increase of $5.53 billion, or

1.2 per cent. The figures are adjusted for seasonal variations.

Inventories of durable goods rose to $431.09 hillion in Jamuary from 428.95 hillion, while nondurable inventories edged up to $274.76 hillion from 273.90 hillion, the Commerce Department said.

A hreakdown of the figures showed most of the increase was at the wholesale level.

Retailers, who have heen offering a wide range of discounts to move goods off the shelves, ran down their inventories in January.

Manufacturers' inventories increased to $336.34 billion in January from 333.66 hillion in December, while retailers' stocks fell to 207.70 hillion from 209.87

Economic giants told to restructure their economies

MELBOURNE, Australia, March 14, (AP): Prime Minister Bob Hawke said today the world economy is facing its worst upbeaval since World War II and urged the United States, Japan and West Germany to undertake large scale restructuring.

Hawke told a Congress of 800 trade unionists from 97 countries that increased exports, not protectionism, was the key.

The world's major economies, notably the United States and Japan, bave to undertake large scale economic reconstruction," be told the 14th World Congress of the International Congress of Free Trade Unions (ICFTU).

The ICFTU claims to represent some 87 million workers worldwide.

Organisers said the this year's conference, delayed so it could be held in Australia's bicentennial year, is the biggest ever. The congress traditionally meets every four years.

Framework

"The congress brings us together at a time when the world economy is experiencing stresses so extreme they threaten to undo the framework on which the international community has relied since World War II," said Hawke, a former president of the Australian Council of Trade Unions (ACTU).

Dollar eases, gold little changed

LONDON, March 14, (Reuter): The shadow of the announcement due later this week of US January trade figures fell across money markets today.

Concern that America's trade gap may be seen to have widened when the figures are announced on Thursday depressed Tokyo share prices and weakened the dollar, dealers reported.

The dollar meanwhile touched quoted lows in early European trading of 1.6548 West German marks and 126.45 yen. It had ended last week in New York worth 1.6585 and 127.25. Estimates for the US January trade deficit generally range from $13 to 14 billion.

Tokyo share prices fell due to increasing caution amongst investors ahead of Tuesday's release of the latest US trade figures, hrokers said.

The approaching end of the Japanese financial year on March 31 is also slowing husiness down, they said.

"Too much is going on for anyone to be aggressive on the huying side," said analyst Simon Smithson of Kleinwort Benson

The estimates for the US January trade deficit generally range from $13 billinn to 14 billion, althnugh Kleinwart Benson predicts a $14.5 hillion shortfall.

"The market won't like it, they won't like it at all," said Smith-son of that figure. "If it is a smuch as that, the dollar will grow

MORE than 200 kinds of goods, the best China can produce, went on display at the Chinese Export Commodities Exhibition opened yesterday at the Mishref Fair Grounds.

The show is expected to give a fresh impetus to the last year's rise in the trade exchange between China and Kuwait, according to Yuan Shaofen, the commercial counsellor at the Chinese

The trade between the two countries was marked hy a gradual decline between the late 1970s and 1987, when the volume of trade rose to $140 million,

Twenty-five companies par-ticipating in the show have displayed goods including textiles. handicrafts, china, foodstuffs, carpets, electronic appliances. medical equipment and petrochemical products. Goods are sold on the spot for less than the local market prices but the Chinese also hope to conclude some long-term husiness deals.

The exhibition is expected to encourage interest among Kuwaiti businessmen to invest in China which is keen ou attracting foreign capital.

Apart from the businessmen and casual visitors, the exhibition could be of interest to people who are losing or have lost bair. The Chinese bave brought a special hair regrowth liniment which contains refined Chinese medical herbs and was approved by reputable Chinese dermatologists, universities and bospitals. A Chinese salesman claims that the earliest the patient may grow new hair is seven days after the first application. The exhibition was opened jointly hy Kuwait's Assistant Undersecretary of the Ministry of Commerce and Industry, Rashid Abdulla Al Mejrin, the Chinese Ambassador, Guan Zihuai and Xu Dayou, the Vice Chairman of the China Council for the promotion of International

The show ends on March 23.

Chesnokov enjoys

limelight of 1st big win

MIAMI, Fla., March 14, (Reuter): Andrei Chesnokov, the best Soviet tennis player to emerge for more than a decade, is probably the richest after his first big victory last week.

The unseeded and relatively imknown Chesnokov stormed his way past the sport's top players to win the Florida Orlando Classic and collect a first prize cheque for $59,000 on Saturday

So how many rubles could he exchange the dollars for? At the bank probably 50,000. On the black market much more," Chesnokov joked. Ranked only 29th in the world, Chesnokov was tipped to get no further than the quarterfinals of the tournament contested by Mats Wilander of Sweden, West German Boris Becker, American Jimmy Connors and Miloslav. Mecir of Czechoslovakia

He beat Mecir in Saturday's final 7-6 (8-6) 6-1 in the first Czech-Soviet final in Grand Prix "I can't believe it," said a smillike to play in the United States because it is nice and because I won the tournament." The victory, the first by a Soviet player in the United States since a 1974 victory by Alex Metreveli, will do much to encourage tennis interest in the Soviet Union, he said.

Chesnokov said parts of the final against Mecir would probablyappear on Moscow television because General Secretary Miknail Gorbachev is a tennis fan.

Screened

The first time Chesnokov saw tennis on Soviet television was the 1979 Wimbledon final between Bjorn Borg of Sweden and American Roscoe Tanner. But since then tennis has been screened more regularly. They talk about the wins. Every time a Russian player does well it is good for tennis in Russia. It is much better now."

Chesnokov, who learned to play at the Sparta Club in Moscow, first came to the attention of Western terms watchers when he beat American Eliot Teltscher at the French Open in 1985.

The man who spoke hardly a word of English then, has made impressive strides both in his grasp of the language and in hi game, putting in appearances in the finals at Wellington and Syd-

Sabatini upsets Graf for first time

BOCA RATON, Fla., March 14, (AP): Gabriela Sabauni of Argentina upset an error-prone Steffi Graf, the world's top-ranked woman player, 2-6, 6-3, 6-1, in the final of the $300,000 Virginia Slims of Florida tournament yesterday.

The 17-year-old Sabatini, who had beaten second-seeded Chris Evert for the first time in the semifinals, won the last six games from Graf to bank the $60,000 first prize.

Career

It was her first victory over the West German as well after 11 straight losses.

"I guess it's the best week of my career," Sabatini said. "It's important to win this kind of match. Everyone wants to beat her. This proves it can be done.

"My goal is to become No.1.

That's what I worked for." Sabatini, ranked fifth worldwide and seeded fourth in the tournament, snapped Graf's 30match winning streak to hand the 18-year-old ber third loss in 10g matches since the start of last

Budd told to answer allegations

LONDON, March 14, (Reuter): Zola Budd was summoned by British athleties chiefs today to answer allegations concerning her links with South Africa.

Tony Ward, the British Amateur Athletic Board spokesman, said a letter bad been received from the International Amateur Atbletic Federation (IAAF) "requesting answers to further questions regarding allegations of activity by Zola Budd in South Africa in 1987."

Wardsaid: "We will be seeking answers to these additional questions and we will be speaking to Zola very swiftly."

He said the latest accusations included claims of "giving and receiving prizes" at a race meeting in South Africa on New Year's Eve 1987.

But be added: "None of the questions from the IAAF concorn her racing "----

The allegations come amid mounting international pressure for Budd, 21, who was born and raised in South Africa, to be barred from the World Crosscountry Championships in New Zealand on March 26.

Budd, who received British citizenship in 1984 less than two weeks after arriving in England for the first time, bas already denied accusations that she took part in a race in South Africa last year, but the new claims concern other associations with ber bome country.

The IAAF were discussing the latest developments in London today. They declined to comment, but said a statement was being drafted and would be released within 24 hours.

The Supreme Council for Sport in Africa has called for an African boycott of the World Cross-country Championships if Budd runs for Britain and the New Zealand government has said she would not be welcome in the country.

Even one of Budd's British OXFORD Cricket Club scored teammates, Angela Tooby, has called on her to withdraw from an easy 60-run victory over Sal-miya XI at the Hilton ground on the championships if her Friday.

Fastest line crucial, says Bin Sulayem

By Gail Seery

REIGNING Middle East Rally Champion Mohammed Bin Sulavem was vesterday the guest of honour at a press dinner organised for him and fellow Mariboro team-mates Tareq Al Wazzan and Eid Falah, at the SAS Hotel. He told the Arab Times that this year's Kuwait International Rally, to be beld on Thursday and Friday, was a very fast rally — even faster than last year's event.

"As a result I'm spending time searching for the fastest line," he said. "If you can save a second per corner by having a better line, over 100 corners that's a hundred seconds."

Important

"The Audi Quattro has an advantage on every rally in the Middle East," he said, referring to Qatari rival Saced Al Hajri's car. "It's won the World Championship twice, in 1983 and 1984, and it can certainly win the Middle East Championship.

Bin Sulayem said that be would be pushing right from the start for this rally, and that he expected average speeds of around 140 kph — with cars approaching 230 kph, "or whatever the car will give" in places.

"It is very important for me to win in Kuwait. This is the second round of the Middle East Championship, and as much it's not crucial. However, the championship is more important than one Sulayem has been practising the six stages which comprise this year's event and currently has engioe problems with his practice That's not surprising," be said. Al Mousawi has been supported with full backing from Merch, including both practice and rally car. One disappointment was that his co-driver for the Qatar rally could not here as be was unable to get a visa. He is instead joined by Abdul Wahid Abdul Haye, who has co-driven for most of the Qataris at ooe time or another.

"This year I'll do the whole Middle East Championship in this Group B car," continued Mousawi. The car is a Peugeot Talbot, and whilst it cannot rank with the froot runners, it outclasses most cars being driveo by

He is very critical about the stages. "They didn't think about their own drivers, and gave all the advantage to outsiders," be alleged. However, be respects many of the local drivers. He doesn't feel that having the name Al Hajri is a problem for him. "Al Hajri is a lucky name for rallies." he asserts. The driver, one of the youogest entrants in the event, is aiming at 3rd or 4th place, and hopes to come in behind the factory teams. They will definitely go on to drive in the Oman and Dubai rallies, and if his placing is good in this week's event, also in Kuwait. He has no doubt as to who will wio the rally, and is strong in support of his older brother.

However the young Al Hajri is adamant that he is oot here for experience alooe, but for points in the Middle East Championship, "I'm very grateful to my sponsors Al Ghanims," he said.
